FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the District Director, New York, New York, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant was born on November 24, 1988, in the Dominican Republic. The applicant's father, [REDACTED], was born in the Dominican Republic in December 1947 and became a naturalized U.S. citizen on August 11, 1999. The applicant's mother, [REDACTED], was born in the Dominican Republic in November 1967 and never had a claim to United States citizenship. The applicant's parents never married each other, but the applicant was legitimated by his father. The applicant was lawfully admitted for permanent residence on November 10, 1993. The applicant is seeking a certificate of citizenship under section 320 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1431.

The district director concluded that the applicant was not currently residing in the United States in the legal and physical custody of the citizen parent and denied the application accordingly.

On appeal, the applicant's father states that the applicant is enrolled in school in Santo Domingo and spends his off time in the United States with his two older brothers. The applicant's father states that he hopes the applicant will develop and learn to have a great appreciation and respect for his heritage, while gaining his primary education there.

Sections 320 and 322 of the Act were amended by the Child Citizenship Act of 2000 (CCA), and took effect on February 27, 2001. The CCA benefits all persons who have not yet reached their 18th birthdays as of February 27, 2001. The applicant was 18 years, 1 month and 26 days old on February 27, 2001. Therefore, he is not eligible for the benefits of the CCA.

Section 320(a) of the Act, effective on February 27, 2001, provides, in part, that a child born outside of the United States automatically becomes a citizen of the United States when all of the following conditions have been fulfilled:

- (1) At least one parent of the child is a citizen of the United States, whether by birth or naturalization.
 - (2) The child is under the age of eighteen years.
 - (3) The child is residing in the United States in the legal and physical custody of the citizen parent pursuant to a lawful admission for permanent residence.
- (b) Subsection (a) shall apply to a child adopted by a United States citizen parent if the child satisfies the requirements applicable to adopted children under section 101(b)(1).

8 C.F.R. 341.2(c) provides that the burden of proof shall be on the claimant to establish the claimed citizenship by a preponderance of the evidence. The applicant has failed to satisfy the requirement of section 320(a)(3) of the Act. Therefore, the appeal will be dismissed.

This decision is without prejudice to the applicant's seeking U.S. citizenship through normal naturalization procedures by filing an Application for Naturalization on Form N-400 with a Service office having jurisdiction over his place of residence.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
